

Mile High Youth Corps helps youth make a difference in themselves and their community through meaningful service opportunities and educational experiences.

Southern Front Range Regional Manager: Land Conservation

Position Overview: Mile High Youth Corps (MHYC) is a Colorado-based 501(c)(3) organization powered by a network of young adults, ages 18-24, who are justice-focused, committed to creating sustainable communities and pursuing a meaningful path to career success. As a leader in positive youth development, workforce development and community-based service, our Youth Corps completes conservation, construction and healthcare projects across a 23-county service area including the Denver and Colorado Springs metro areas. MHYC offers a leading compensation package including 17 paid holidays per year (minimum); comprehensive insurance coverage including health, dental, vision and life; 403b retirement; mental health and wellness support; professional development; hybrid work options; and a modified work schedule of 72 hours over 2 weeks (ex. one Friday off every 2 weeks).

The Southern Front Range (SFR) Regional Manager: Land Conservation is responsible for managing youth and workforce development programming and operations at MHYC's seasonal base in Colorado Springs. The ideal candidate will be a proven leader with sufficient experience to develop, implement and critically assess risk management, program and project operations plans, and serve as an integral member of MHYC's multi-region Land Conservation program management team. They will demonstrate a strong commitment to MHYC's mission and values, possess well-developed interpersonal skills, and can work with a wide range of internal and external stakeholders. This position is responsible for leading and cultivating a high-performing team while managing hiring, orientation and training for staff and AmeriCorps members (called Corpsmembers); technical skills training and certification (e.g., chainsaw operation, pesticide application, etc.), educational programming such as leadership and conflict resolution; Corpsmember career pathway activities including environmental stewardship projects on public and protected lands throughout the Southern Front Range region; budget development and management; and overall program operations. The SFR Regional Manager serves as MHYC's primary relationship manager for essential regional program, project and community partnerships.
